Many of our visitors will love discovering the little known facts and whimsical stories shared through our exhibits.”

The “Teddy Bear” is said to have been named after former President Theodore Roosevelt, whose nickname was Teddy. The story goes that in 1902, President Roosevelt was bear hunting but at the end of his trip had not shot a single bear. One of his staff members caught a bear cub and lashed it to a tree for the President to shoot. He refused and an article about the incident appeared in the Washington Post which nick named the spared bear “Teddy,” after the President. The story spread and people began to make their own Teddy Bears. Morris Michtom, an American, and Margarete Steiff, a German, were the first manufacturers to produce Teddy Bears commercially. Teddy Bears are now universally adored and loved around the world.

Health and Wellness at Hyatt Regency Waikiki

Successful new programs target nutrition and fitness

Hyatt Regency Waikiki Beach Resort and Spa, proudly announces the successful launch of a series of programs designed to assist staff and guests in their nutritional and fitness goals. With a popular new Health and Wellness contest for employees, a free program for guests, as well as ongoing physical fitness classes, the resort is successfully making a difference.

In July, Hyatt Regency Waikiki introduced the Health and Wellness Competition - a program designed to provide an incentive and support for staff looking to lose weight or become more physically fit. The four-month weight loss challenge received nearly eighty registrants who vied for a cash prize of $250.

“We decided to create a contest that would incorporate all the necessary tools one needs to improve their health - proper nutrition, exercise, and informational resources. We provided access to these resources and guided the employees as they did the rest,” says David Lewin, general manager at Hyatt Regency Waikiki.

Employees have several resources available to them to make healthy choices. Access to fitness centers, health planners, daily stretching exercises in some departments, and a cafeteria menu filled with nutritious options are all among the health and wellness options.

Hyatt Regency Waikiki has also introduced a new free Health and Wellness class for guests. The one-hour session includes instruction on reading labels, weight loss and weight maintenance as well as a tour of the Stay Fit Gym. The staff gives guests advice on their workout routines and provides information about the machines as well as maps for running and walking in the area. Also available are yoga and hula classes that alternate daily. The lessons are $25 and held in the relaxation room in Na Ho'ola Spa.

“The Health and Wellness class is a great amenity for our guests,” remarks Lewin. “Without taking a lot of their time, it gives them the opportunity to ask questions and take what they've learned home.”

To find out more about fitness activities at the spa, please call (808) 237-6330. Information about the Hyatt Waikiki Beach Resort and Spa is available online at waikiki.hyatt.com.

Hyatt Waikiki celebrates America Recycles Day

Employee donation and pledges mark the national day

On Monday, November 15, 2010, associates from Hyatt Regency Waikiki Beach Resort and Spa donated approximately 350 lbs. of recyclable cans, plastic and glass bottles to Jefferson Elementary School in honor of America Recycles Day. The hotel's Green Team also encouraged staff to take a pledge to improve their own recycling practices as a part of the national day dedicated to recycling.

"We take pleasure in creating a better tomorrow for the environment and for our local keiki. America Recycles Day gave us an opportunity to do both," says David Lewin, general manager at Hyatt Regency Waikiki.

School recycling bins generate an average of $250 per month. Staff from Hyatt Regency Waikiki collected thirty-five bags of aluminum cans, plastic and glass bottles during normal hotel hours of operation. All employees were also invited to visit the America Recycles Day website and take a pledge to dedicate themselves to learning what can or cannot be recycled, practicing recycling at work, safely recycling e-waste, and telling five friends about how easy recycling can be.

Halau to Perform at Hilton Hawaiian Village as part of Waikīkī Hula Conference

Hilton Hawaiian Village's Village Green will play host to Kumu Colsen "Ina" Kanei and his Halau Kawaiianuhea-hua this Saturday, November 20 at 6:30 p.m. in a free performance on the resort's Village Green. The performance is part of the 4th Annual International Waikīkī Hula Conference, which takes place this weekend.

Kanei began dancing hula with Kaha'i Topolinski, and as a high school senior, he danced with Michael Delacruz and Na 'Opio o Ko'olau, learning a variety of Polynesian dances. In 1985, Kanei joined kumu hula Chinky Mahe and Halau Hula O Kawaili'ula, known for flair and precision. With them, Kanei competed in the Merrie Monarch Festival. The pride he felt while dancing kept him in the halau for 11 more years. Chinky stressed endurance and strength: everyone in his halau walked away with "hula legs." As Kanei says, "I owe my competitive attitude and showmanship to the years I spent dancing with Chinky." Kanei's core belief is that commitment is essential in dancing hula. Most important in hula is "upholding the respect of our ancestors, remembering who we are, where we've come -- and never giving up when things get tough."

The performance on Saturday is free and open to the public. Also that evening, Henry Kapon's Wild Hawaiian Experience takes place at the Super Pool beginning at 7:30 p.m. General admission is priced at $20 per person and includes one drink. VIP tickets are priced at $35 per person and include two drinks and premium poolside seating. Prices include validated self-parking. Tickets can be purchased by phone by calling 808-947-7877 or at the door. For more information, visit: hiltonhawaiianvillage.com/wild.

ŌLELO OLA O KA 'ĀINA LIVING LANGUAGE OF THE LAND

Koa

In 'ōlelo Hawai'i (Hawaiian language), koa has many interpretations. Warrior, soldier, courageous and bold are related meanings, while reference to the native tree of the acacia family is another. It is from the kumu koa or koa tree that canoes are made. Its prized lā'au (wood) is used for making an array of useful items from ukulele and canoe paddles to flooring and calabashes.

The koa has two distinct leaf formations. Younger lacy leaves also resemble the introduced aggressive weed known as "koa haole." The more mature crescent-shaped leaves are silvery-green and are recognizable from a distance in their higher elevation forest habitat.

Royal Hawaiian Center and Royal Hawaiian Hotel are joining forces in planting koa at Helumoa in Waikīkī, along with other indigenous and endemic Hawaiian plants, as a means to honor Hawaiian heritage and educate kama'āina (residents) and malihini (visitors).

Kekoa, meaning "the warrior," is a popular Hawaiian name. Hale Koa, the military hotel at Kālia, Waikīkī, means "house of the warrior."

Ulu ke koa ma Helumoa, he kumu lā'au ikaika me he koa lā.
Koa grows at Helumoa, a tree with warrior-like strength.

Learn more about Hawaiian history and culture at the Kaulani Heritage Room at Royal Hawaiian Center, open daily from 10 am - 10 pm, free to the public. See examples of native flora in The Royal Grove, and the elegant bronze statue of Princess Pauahi. Royal Hawaiian Center offers the very best in shopping, dining, entertainment and Hawaiian programming. E kipa mai – welcome!

Holiday Inn® says Aloha to Hawai‘i

OHANA Waikiki Beachcomber is re-flagged the Holiday Inn Waikiki Beachcomber Resort

The Holiday Inn® flag is once again flying atop a Hawai‘i hotel with the rebranding of the former OHANA Waikiki Beachcomber to the Holiday Inn Waikiki Beachcomber Resort effective November 9, 2010. A Hawaiian blessing was held to mark the transition and to welcome Hawai‘i’s only Holiday Inn-branded hotel.

Outrigger Enterprises Group, Hawai‘i’s largest locally owned hotel operator, and IHG (InterContinental Hotels Group) [LON:IHG, NYSE:IHG (ADRs)], the world’s largest hotel group by number of rooms, first announced the licensing agreement in August and have been working together over the past two months to ensure a smooth transition.

“We are excited to welcome Holiday Inn as part of our portfolio of accommodation choices in Hawai‘i,” said Barry Wallace, executive vice president, Hospitality Services for Outrigger Enterprises Group. “Guests of the Holiday Inn Waikiki Beachcomber Resort can look forward to Outrigger’s outstanding guest service and island hospitality coupled with Holiday Inn’s enhanced standards and services.”

Wallace went on to say that the rebranding of the hotel is in alignment with Outrigger’s “many brands, one ‘ohana (family)” corporate strategy, which leverages the company’s proven ability to successfully manage multiple brands while maintaining the Outrigger collection of leisure hotels, resort condominiums, and vacation properties located in some of the most desirable destinations throughout Hawai‘i, the Pacific, and Asia.

For Holiday Inn, the addition of the Holiday Inn Waikiki Beachcomber Resort to its global portfolio is part of the brand’s $1 billion relaunch, which was established to create a more contemporary brand image, improving quality and driving consistency across the global portfolio. With more than 3,400 hotels and 430,000 guest rooms around the world, the sheer magnitude of the Holiday Inn relaunch is unmatched in hospitality history.

“As one of the most highly sought-after leisure markets in the U.S., Hawai‘i is a natural fit within our portfolio of relaunched Holiday Inn hotels,” said Gina LaBarre, vice president, Brand Delivery, the Americas. “As we bring the relaunch into new markets, it’s important that we have presence in the top vacation destinations desired by our guests. It's easy to imagine weary road warriors bringing their families to this resort to recharge with an unforgettable getaway."

Last year, Outrigger completed a $30 million renovation of the hotel that resulted in comfortable accommodations designed to reflect the unique environment and culture of the area. Improvements included modern, revitalized guest rooms, as well as a newly revamped pool, lobby, fitness room and porte cochere. As part of the rebranding effort, additional upgrades were recently made to the Holiday Inn Waikiki Beachcomber Resort, which now features the hallmarks of the Holiday Inn relaunch, including:

- o Upgraded lobby areas
- o Upgraded showers and bathroom amenities
- o New signage with the redesigned logo
- o Holiday Inn's extensive "Stay Real" training program, which will supplement Outrigger's existing approach to customer service.

Consistent with Holiday Inn standards, crisp, white bedding with pillows that come in two comfort levels – “soft” and “firm” – are now the norm. Guest bathrooms include a specially designed showerhead that offers superior pressure, as well as a signature shower curtain with curved rod and Bath & Body Works' popular coconut Lime Verbena bath amenity line.

Close to all the action, the Holiday Inn Waikiki Beachcomber Resort is located in the fast-paced heart of Waikiki. The resort's convenient location is just steps from the beach and surrounded by shopping, dining and entertainment. Nearby attractions include Royal Hawaiian Center, International Market Place, DFS (Duty Free Shop), Macy's, Duke's and Waikiki Beach Walk®. On the resort's lobby level, Illusionist John Hirokawa presents the dazzling Magic of Polynesia show in a 600-seat theater specifically designed for his electrifying displays.

Holiday Inn Hotels and Resorts participates in IHG's guest loyalty program, Priority Club® Rewards. The industry's first and largest guest loyalty program has 52 million members. Priority Club Rewards membership is free and guests can enroll by logging on at priorityclub.com, by calling 1-888-211-9874 or by inquiring at the front desk of this hotel or any of IHG's more than 4,500 hotels worldwide.

Hilton Hawaiian Village Beach Resort & Spa celebrates Thanksgiving with feasts at signature restaurants

Tropics Bar & Grill, Bali Steak & Seafood and the Waikiki Starlight Luau will keep guests well fed

Hilton Hawaiian Village Beach Resort & Spa is celebrating Thanksgiving with bountiful feasts at its signature restaurants; Tropics Bar & Grill, Bali Steak Seafood, plus the Waikiki Starlight Luau on Thursday, November 25.

Tropics Bar & Grill celebrates its second Thanksgiving with a four-course menu that goes well with football on Tropics' four flat-screen televisions. The menu starts with a roasted Kahuku corn and smoked bacon bisque; then a wild baby arugula and Waimanalo Farms' salad with green apples, pistachios with bleu cheese and herb dressing. For the entrée, diners can choose between: Tropics roasted turkey with Portuguese sausage bread stuffing, Yukon mashed potatoes and homemade cranberry relish; li hing mui roasted rack of lamb with sweet potato croquette; and slow braised "osso bucco" beef short ribs with Yukon mashed potatoes and burgundy jus. A dessert of pumpkin cheesecake with seasonal berries completes the meal. The price of Tropics' Thanksgiving feast is $47 per person, and $23.50 for children under the age of 12.

At the resort's culinary landmark, Bali Steak & Seafood, Chef Brett Villarmia presents a four-course dinner with all the trimmings. A roasted kabocha pumpkin soup starts the meal, followed by a salad of Hirabara Big Island greens with goat cheese "bonbons." Diners then have a choice between five items for their entrée: Kona sea salt brined turkey with sourdough "stuffing" bread pudding; slow-roasted 12 oz. prime rib with parmesan popover; grilled 16 oz. center cut pork chop with braised red lettuce and roasted fingerling potatoes; pan-roasted king salmon with truffled white bean ragout; and fall vegetable risotto with parmiggiano-regianno and soy-balsamic marinated alii mushrooms. The dessert is a chocolate swirl pumpkin cheesecake with pecan crust and cranberry apple compote. The cost of this Thanksgiving prix-fixe dinner is $75 for adults and $45 for children 12 years and younger.

For Thanksgiving, the resort's popular Waikiki Starlight Luau will be held on the Great Lawn offering stunning views of the Duke Kahanamoku Lagoon.

The dinner buffet features a modern twist on traditional luau fare with Thanksgiving enhancements on that day. For the younger diners, the Waikiki Starlight Luau features a keiki menu complete with teriyaki meatballs, sweet & sour chicken wings, tater tots and veggies. Following the dinner, guests will enjoy a journey through the Pacific from the talented men and women of Tihati Entertainment, which includes an exhilarating four-man Samoan fireknife dance. The cost of the luau is $95 for adults and $47.50 for children; or $105 for adults and $52.50 for children in the Golden Circle Seating area.
