The Royal Hawaiian, A Luxury Collection Resort Celebrates its 85th Anniversary

The Royal Hawaiian, a Luxury Collection Resort celebrated its 85th anniversary on Wednesday, February 1 at the resort's historic Monarch Ballroom. The evening's festivities included a traditional Hawaiian welcome chant, the unveiling of an international short film "Here" starring the "Pink Palace of the Pacific," and live entertainment by legendary award-winning artist Amy Hanaialii Gilliom.

"The Royal Hawaiian is an icon for both visitors and kamaaina alike," said General Manager Kelly Hoen. "On Tuesday, February 1, 1927, the Honolulu Advertiser announced, 'The Portals of the Royal Hawaiian Hotel will be an Emblem of Aloha to Visitors from the World Over.' Today, 85 memorable years later, The Royal Hawaiian continues to share the exquisite tradition of Hawaiian Hospitality and our island's rich cultural heritage with global travelers."

The opening of The Royal Hawaiian on February 1, 1927, ushered in a new era of luxurious resort travel to Hawaii. The hotel was built with a price tag of $4 million and was completed in 18 months. The six-story, 400-room structure was fashioned in a Spanish-Moorish style popular during the period and influenced by screen star Rudolph Valentino. The first general manager of the hotel, Arthur Benaglia, presided over a staff of 300, including ten elevator operators and lobby boys dressed in "Cathayan" costume. At the grand opening's black-tie gala celebration, members of the Honolulu Symphony entertained over 1,200 guests at the $10-a-plate event. The Honolulu Star-Bulletin described the newly opened Royal Hawaiian as "the first resort hostelry in America."

Today, after a recent $70 million-dollar renovation, the 592-room resort features 35 suites including 18 oceanfront and six two-story exclusive suites, more than 66,000 square feet of beachfront space and world class signature restaurants and lounges, including the world famous Mai Tai Bar and Waikiki's only beachfront luau.

Hawaiian Recruiting Flight Attendants For Expansion

Hawaiian Airlines is accepting applications to fill up to 175 new flight attendant positions serving its transpacific and neighbor island routes.

Applications will be accepted until February 14 and must be submitted online to Hawaiian's website for consideration. Visit www.HawaiianAir.com/AboutUs/Employment-Opportunities/ for more information about the flight attendant position and other jobs offered by Hawaiian. Qualified candidates will be contacted by Hawaiian if they are selected to participate in an initial interview later this month.

Hawaiian is hiring flight attendants to support new services being added in the coming months. Hawaiian is launching daily nonstop service between Honolulu and both Fukuoka (April 16) and New York City (June 5); adding a third daily flight year-round between Honolulu and Los Angeles (June 7); reintroducing nonstop daily service between Maui and Los Angeles this summer (June 21 - August 18); and increasing to daily flights year-round between Honolulu and Seoul (July 16).

Hawaiian is also currently increasing its neighbor island flight schedule by an extra 23 to 25 flights daily, which is being supported by the addition of three Boeing 717-200 aircraft to its fleet. Additional new transpacific services are being planned as Hawaiian continues to introduce more of its new Airbus A330-200 aircraft into the fleet. Four new A330s are joining the fleet by mid-year, followed by the delivery of 13 new A330s between 2013 and 2015.

Hawaiian currently has more than 4,200 employees, the most in the company's history, and plans to increase its workforce by an additional 500 employees this year.

Hawaiian Expands Reservations Call Center Hours to Meet Growth

In support of its strategic growth plan and expanding customer base, Hawaiian Airlines has boosted the capabilities of its reservations call center with round-the-clock service. Customers can now call Hawaiian 24 hours a day, 7 days a week, at its toll-free phone number, 1-800-367-5320, to book flight reservations and seek information.

Peter Ingram, Hawaiian's executive vice president and chief commercial officer, noted, "With a growing route network that by June will extend from the Eastern U.S. to Asia, we now bring guests to Hawaii from all over the world. Knowing that many travelers still prefer to speak to someone when making flight reservations, we want to ensure they can reach us promptly at any time of day."

Ingram added that Hawaiian's user-friendly website, www.HawaiianAirlines.com, continues to be the most convenient method for customers to book flights and search for information at any time of day from anywhere in the world.

The service enhancement of the reservations call center comes in the early stages of Hawaiian's long-range expansion to new destinations and further development of its existing markets. Over the past year, Hawaiian expanded its route network with the launch of nonstop service to Honolulu from Tokyo (November 2010), Seoul (January 2011) and Osaka (July 2011), while increasing its Australia service to daily flights year-round from Sydney (December 2011).

In 2012, Hawaiian is launching daily nonstop service between Honolulu and both Fukuoka (April 16) and New York City (June 5); adding a third daily flight year-round between Los Angeles and Honolulu (June 7); reintroducing nonstop daily service between Los Angeles and Maui for the summer (June 21 - August 18); and increasing to daily flights year-round between Honolulu and Seoul (July 16). Hawaiian is also increasing its neighbor island flight schedule by an additional 23 to 25 flights daily by mid-March.

Additional new services are being planned as Hawaiian continues to introduce more of its new long-range Airbus A330-200 aircraft into its fleet. Four new A330s are joining the fleet in 2012, followed by the delivery of 13 new A330s between 2013 and 2015.

Celebrate the Month of Romance with a SpaHalekulani Pedicure

Waterless Nail Service, Chocolates, and Champagne

SpaHalekulani, an innovative spa that has long been celebrated for transporting guests through a cultural journey to uncover the mystical cultures of Asia, Hawaii and the South Pacific, invites couples to take a romantic voyage during the month of February.

A special Valentines-inspired spa package includes a Waterless Pedicure for Two, enjoyed with Champagne and Signature Halekulani Chocolates, for $165 exclusive of gratuity and taxes.

SpaHalekulani is the first in the state to offer guests a waterless, eco-friendly nail service- a luxurious hand and foot service without the gallons of water that is usually employed per pedicure service. The January 2012 introduction of the waterless nail services reinforces SpaHalekulani's position as a leading spa with a strong focus on sourcing local ingredients and sustainability.

"It's a pampering experience that is not only healthier for our guest but is environmentally friendly," said Spa Director Lena Mossman. Each experience begins with a softening warm towel, which is then followed by nail shaping and cuticle conditioning with the new cuticle balm designed for SpaHalekulani in the exclusive scents of Waiianuhea and Manoa Mint.

The experience is completed with gentle callus removal, exfoliation and soothing massage. Throughout the experience, the guest relaxes in the spa's new Zero-Gravity chairs by Human Touch. Designed to place the body in a virtually weightless position that doctors recommend as the healthiest way to sit, the Zero-Gravity chairs help relieve back pain and sore muscles.

After the service, as part of this February spa package, champagne and chocolates are served on the spa terrace.

To make an appointment by phone call (808) 931-5322 or e-mail at spa.halekulani@halekulani.com.
